COMMITTEES ORGANIZE FOR CLEAN–UP

rat control project is envisioned as a January - March project, with county clean-up, purchase of rat-proof garbage cans, poisoning of rats and other measures.

The program will develop during December with all organizational leaders asked to report on Wednesday, January 5 on plans for educational and publicity needs and a plan for door-to-door publicity to rid the county of rats.

Co-ordinated baiting of rats with poisons and rat traps is scheduled for February 11 – February 29. Additional baiting and clean-up work is scheduled for March at dumps, incinerators, lagoon, sewage treating plant, etc.

Both the town of Appomattox and the county are being asked to contribute toward the cost of educational materials and rat bait material. Any funds not used will be returned to the governing bodies.

J. A. Smith, coordinator, is circulating a list of committees appointed to implement the rat control program: Appomattox Town Committee chairman is C. S. Booth with duties of inspection, enforcement, service, bait placement in sewers.

Local Businesses' committee chairman is M. L. Webb with duties to assist merchants in preparing a display of garbage cans, traps, commercial baits.

Poison Preparation is under the direction of T. E. Conner with duties of packaging, distributing, and collecting for poison concentrate.

Treasurer is Mrs. DeVonne Godsey who will write checks and maintain an account for the organization.

Professional assistance is being offered by Glenn Dudderar, extension wildlife specialist. His duties will include the baiting of dumps, sewage treatment plants, lagoons and incinerators. Duderar was present at the Tuesday organizational meeting.

Three business places will be offering the bait concentrate: Coleman and Sons, Appomattox Farmers Supply, town of Appomattox and Tolley's Fertilizer Company, Pamplin.

Organizations may obtain program materials from the County Extension office, including educational leaflets and sufficient bait materials for a demonstration on how to prepare the bait.

The following films have been ordered and will be available during January: "Rural Rat Control" – black and white (16 mintes); "The Norway Rat – Habits and Characteristics" – black and white (11 minutes); "The Rat Problem" – black and white (16 minutes). There is also a flannelgraph presentation available – display and script – a general review of rat control.

PUPILS & FRIENDS REMEMBERED FORMER TEACHER

Miss Flora Belle Williams, creater of the hand-crocheted afghan which was donated to the Rescue Squad for a fund-raising effort, has expressed great pleasure that the drawing for the afghan has produced more than $500 for the Appomattox County Rescue Squad.

She says that many former pupils and lots of other friends helped to put the drive across. For the Rescue Squad, itself, any time of year is a good time to help the men and women of the Squad who help county people in emergency situations every day of every year.

Little League Basketball Practice - Dec. 11

No Gypsy Moths In Traps Here

There were no positive traps in Appomattox county this year of the Gypsy moth, a troublesome insect which defoliates hardwoods, which is the object of a multi-state effort to "seek and destroy."

Early in the summer small cone-like traps were hung in trees in Appomattox county and other surrounding counties by the Va. Division of Forestry and others.

Appomattox county forester Warren Taylor said that one Gypsy moth was trapped in Campbell County and others were trapped along the coast. Since travel trailers, campers and the like are possibly the major carriers of the moth from the northern-infested states to the south, special attention has been paid to visitor centers and recreation areas.

Forester Taylor says that he is happy that Appomattox county has thus far seemingly escaped the travels of the Gypsy moth. The moths can kill hardwoods and pines and if they infiltrate this area could be a decided threat to trees.

The Pastor Speaks

Hark! The Herald Angels Sing!

Lk. 2:13-14

Two hundred and fifty years ago Charles Wesley was born. He was the brotherof John Wesley, the famous Methodist preacher. He wrote six thousand poems. Ten times as many as immortal Isaac Watts. Even today you can scarcely open a hymnal without coming face to face with some of Wesleys gems: "Love Divine, All Loves Excelling," "O For A Thousand Tongues", "Jesus Lover of My Soul". This last the greatest in the English language.

Mr. Wesley wrote many hymns for the various seasons such as Easter, Christmas, and New Years. A Christmas program would hardly be complete without this song, "Hark! The Hearld Angels Sing, Glory to the new-born King; Peace on earth and mercy mild; God and sinners reconciled."

Why has this hymn prevailed we might ask, when most are born for but a day. Because it is heard as an undying eternal truth. It sings of a new-born King in Peace. Peace and joy are matters of the heart. The spirit, the inner life, not somethings outside. Even if ye have little of this worlds goods you may possess the peace which "passeth all understanding". Blessed are the poor -- theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven." "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God."

Joy is that happy affection of the soul which arises from the possession of Christ. It springs from a heart that is fixed on something eternal and beyond itself. The joy of earth is short and fleeting. That which comes from God is permanent and satisfying. True joy springs from a sence of pardoned sin and union with Christ, "God and sinners Reconciled."

True joy is pure, abiding, unspeakable, and eternal. It is the result of personal acquaintance with God and obedience to his will.

What Mr. Wesley tells us in his beautiful hymn is true. "We must possess the God of Peace if we would possess the peace of God." This is the heart of the Christmas message. Christ Jesus the new-born King was sent into the worl that through him the world might have salvation. Thus be reconciled to God. IICor. 6:20

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

A GOD WHO ACTS!

Lesson for December 12, 1971

Background Scripture: Luke 1: 5-80; 2:25-35

Have you ever been so excited about something that you've felt you just had to sing about it?

That's the way the writer of Luke apparently felt about the birth of Jesus Christ. In the first two chapters of this gospel he uses four stirring hymns to express both the depth of meaning and feeling stirred by these events. First, there is Mary's beautiful and humble response to being told by the angelic announcement that she will be the mother of Christ (Luke 1:46-55). We call this hymn the "Magnificat" ("my soul magnifies the Lord . . .").

"Mine Eyes Have Seen . . ."

Then in Luke 1:68-79 there is Zacharias' ecstatic response to the revelation that his newborn son, John (the Baptist), will be the prophetic forerunner of the Messiah. Because it begins with the word, "Blessed," it is known as the Benedictus.

The announcement to the shepherds of the birth of Jesus is also a hymn, this time by an angelic multitude (Luke 2:14):

Glory to God in the highest,
and on earth peace among men with whom he is pleased!

The fourth of these great lyrical testimonies comes shortly after the birth of Jesus when he is brought to Jerusalem for the rite of presentation in the temple, (2:30-32). Here an aged and faithful Jew realizes that this infant is the answer to Israel's hopes. His life is fulfilled: "Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace according to thy word; for mine eyes have seen thy salvation . . ." This ecstatic testimony is often known as the "Nunc Dimittis," ("Now lettest . . .")

Action Verbs

If you examine each of these songs closely, you will see, however, that they are not speculative in nature. There are no speculative, philosophical ideas about who or what God is. Rather, they are recountings of what God has done and is doing! These are not passive verbs, but action verbs. They speak of God's activity in his world. For example, in Zacharias' "Benedictus," (1:68-79): God has "visited," "redeemed," "raised," "spoke," "to perform" and "remember."

How much gasoline does a Virginia baby use?

Not much? Well, every man, woman and child uses an average of three gallons of oil products every day.

All told, America uses 600 million gallons daily. And demand is increasing so fast that by the time this baby is 15 years old, he and every other American will be using six gallons every day.

A country that runs on oil can't afford to run short.
